Chorus

When you're dif - ferent what do you say? Hey! I'm dif - ferent and I'm proud that way. It's pret - ty cool

I'm not you, 'cause then we'd have no - thing to do, 'cause you'd be me___ and I'd be you!___ Why don't we just say,___ why don't we just say:___ You and me are dif - ferent and that's O K! Why don't we just say,___ why don't we just say:___ You and me are dif - ferent and that's O K!

To Coda To Verses

Verse 1

There once was a boy named Wil - liam Wein - stein.

Wil - liam had red hair just like me. Wil - liam was smart,

Wil - liam was sweet, but the kids made fun 'cause he had big feet!

Verse 2

So the kids made fun of Wil - liam Wein - stein, the tall red - head with great big feet, 'til one day one kid kicked a ball in - to a tree and no one was tall e - nough to reach___ that ball at all.___ So the kids tried and tried to stretch and reach and jump up high. Then

Slowly and freely

out of no-where came Wil-liam Wein - stein walk-ing tall and proud up to that tree. And on the tip - ee toes of his great big feet,

Leader (Spoken, with narrator-style suspense) :

F F# G G#
William stretched, and he reached, and he stretched, and he jumped up and down.

With kids (Like a sports chant) :

Go William!	Go William!	Go William!	Go William!

Leader:

(No chord)

And on the tipee toes his great big, beautiful feet,
William stretched up so high that his fingers could barely, just barely reach ...
WAIT! He got the ball!!!! He got the ball!!!! (Kids cheer)

D.C. al Coda

that's O K! You and me are dif-ferent and that's O K!
You and me are dif - ferent and I like you that way!
